Genre-defying DJ & producer John B kick-starts the summer with the brand new track "I've Been Stalking You On MySpace". Describing the track as 'ElectroEmoRoboIndieRockDrum&Bass', "I've Been Stalking You On MySpace" is the first single to be taken from John's forthcoming album "Electrostep" due for release this summer.

John B has been touring internationally for several years (120 gigs in the last 12 months) & "S.Y.O.M" has become a massive crowd favourite, signalling yet another new direction for the ever-inventive John B, mixing Electro/Clash, Drum & Bass and guitar-lead dance-rock with a do-it-yourself punk-rock attitude, New-Romantic-esque imagery and generally going intensely against the grain of mainstream D&B...

"Stalking You On Myspace" is a tongue-in-cheek in-joke poke at behaviour and posing on the internet, the meaningful camera angles, the super-deep emo-teenage-poetry, try-hard lists of obscure bands, the internet popularity contest obsessed, self-centred wannabes, the 'scene', exaggeration & internet stalking. YOUKNOWWHOYOUARE.
